DETAILED ACTION

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 15-16, 28, and 44, as newly presented, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Lawrence '430.

Lawrence teaches a conversion for a motor vehicle 25 defining a longitudinally extending vehicle body. While not explicitly detailed, the Lawrence truck is deemed to inherently include frame members and metal skin construction (e.g. for sidewall 29) as is common in the art. Note the instant specification does not detail the frame and skin construction either (e.g. see elected figure 9 embodiment of the instant invention), and the examiner is relying on the inherent construction of pickup truck bodies common in the art as support for such construction as recited in the instant claims as well. The Lawrence device defines a vertical sidewall 29+ and includes a truck bed as broadly claimed – note the extended cab portion of the truck including door 35 or 80 is used for storage and is deemed part of the truck bed as broadly claimed. Frame element 40+ (and including aperture 34 which is fabricated as part of the Lawrence conversion kit) defines a body receiver including structure as broadly claimed. The receiver defines a length that is longer than a width of sidewall opening 34 – see figures 1, 5, 14 etc. The frame structure/receiver extends generally horizontally, outward from a vehicle center, and transverse to the vehicle longitudinal direction – e.g. see section 1, lines 54-59 etc.

Elements 36, 81, or 90 define accessories as broadly claimed. Note aperture element 34 which is cut in the vehicle side wall 29 as part of the truck conversion is deemed part of the receiver assembly and defines an opening as broadly claimed.

Alternatively/additionally, the receiving opening of frame 40 defines an opening as broadly claimed.

Claim 15 as newly amended, the receiver is not threaded, not in a bumper, and located above a tire height as newly broadly claimed.

Claim 16, note tool supporting table 90. Note also, drawers 36 etc. define at least a "width extension" as broadly defined.

Claim 28, the device defines multiple accessories as broadly claimed.

New claim 44, the receiver is not in a bumper as broadly claimed.

3. Claims 7-21, 27, and 30 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to the rejected claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

Art Unit: 3612

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
